Tullytown-Fallsington Road Ranks Among Prime Examples Of Neglect

By GORDON PARKER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Tullytown - Fallsington road is one of the best examples of neglect by the State Highway Department. This road, which runs from Fallsington along the east side of Levittown to Lakeside, must be placed high on the list of the worst roads in the area.

The road merits this "distinction" as the result of the size and number of its holes. The only saving grace is that traffic has been cut to a minimum since construction of the new Route 13 expressway, which parallels half the old road.

Taking advantage of this decrease in traffic, highway crews practically ignored the road until recently. As a result, giant holes developed and grew bigger and deeper until they resembled bomb craters.

Women Defy Guns to Honor Hungary's Unknown Soldier

By Russell Jones
United Press Staff Correspondent

BUDAPEST — UP — More than 30,000 women and young girls defied Soviet armor and machinegun fire today to lay flowers on the tomb of Hungary's unknown soldier.

At least one woman was wounded by a Russian bullet during the brief skirmish.

The demonstration commemorated the second bloody Soviet onslaught on Budapest exactly a month ago today.

Leaflets scattered in the streets Monday night called for a demonstration of mourning for husbands, sons and brothers lost in the Budapest fighting.

Shortly before 11 a.m., women by the thousands began converging on the monument in Heroes' Square in the left-bank city of Pest.

The Russians rushed scores of armored cars to the scene to seal off the approaches to the square before most of the mourners could reach the monument. Soviet tanks took positions on the Danube bridges, separating women in the right-bank city of Buda from the demonstrators across the river.

A few hundred women reached the monument before the Russians tightened the cordon, and thousands more hurled themselves at the wall of steel.

Russian tommygunners jumped out of the armored cars to push back the screaming women.

"Look at those Russians!" one elderly woman shouted. "They have guns and they are afraid! We are only women with our children, but we are not afraid."

Men took no part in the demonstration. One who tried to push his way into the column was forced out by women who told him that the demonstration was for "mothers, sisters and daughters only."

The Weather

Sunny and quite mild today with high temperatures 60 to 65. Fair tonight with low temperatures 30 to 36. Increasing cloudiness and cooler Wednesday.

Preacher Beaten

CLINTON, Tenn. — UP — A young white Baptist preacher escorted six Negro students back to classes at integrated Clinton High School today and then was severely beaten by a group of white men as he left the school. A group of seven or eight white men attacked the Rev. Paul Turner and flailed him with their fists after he and two volunteer aides had formed a safety brigade to return the Negroes to classes.

Late this afternoon the Anderson County School Board ordered the school closed "until it's safe for children."

Good Evening!

June in December.

Lovely blue skies and balmy zephyrs belie the season but don't let 'em fool you. Ma Nature's capriciousness sometimes surprising, frequently exasperating and you never know what morning you're going to need snowshoes.

Still much splinter-group squabbling about the new courthouse at Doylestown, particularly as to its location.

It seems to us the whole question has been rather well settled. The important thing now is to get the building started.

You'd hardly believe it, unless you've been following that revealing series of picture-articles in your favorite newspaper, how completely disgraceful is the highway system in Lower Bucks county.

Isn't it a shame? Here is a region known throughout the nation for its growth, its vigor, for its lovely homes, for its business and industrial expansion, for all of its bright promise for the future. Yet, our highways are a throwback to the gaslight area.

Deer hunting season well under way, incidentally.

The more successful nimrod is he who shoots his deer before he himself gets half-shot.

And we see where Jose Iturbi, the long-hair pianist, walks out on a $7,500 TV date because he refuses to accompany "cheese-cake."

With a bow to the lovelies who prance around on the TV screen as "singers" we offer a salute to Iturbi. We're becoming extremely weary of seeing some of our very finest musicians translate their art in terms of video cash and making travesty of their talents.

It's a shame that some young folks worry about not knowing what it takes 30 to 40 years to learn.

Marriage is considered a failure mainly by the people who have tried it most frequently.

Watch your driving.

Army Gives 2nd Contract For Project

Deepening To Begin At Creek Mouth By New York Firm

The U. S. Army Engineers today announced the awarding of the second of four contracts to deepen the Delaware River channel to 35 feet, with work to start between Cornwells Heights and the mouth of Neshaminy Creek before January 1.

The work was awarded to Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Co., New York, N.Y., for $3,476,794. Off-shore from Philadelphia last Friday the American Dredging Co., of Philadelphia, began work on the deep channel, expected to be a boon to the Lower Bucks industrial expansion.

To Confer

For the section just awarded, a representative of the Atlantic firm will meet with Army Engineers officials in their new Burlington, N.J., channel office, Dec. 10 to review the plans. First steps for the Lower Bucks section will be building up disposal areas, with one expected in the low land near the Neshaminy Creek mouth.

The Engineers hope to have four contracts awarded near Jan. 1 for the work from Philadelphia to the mouth of the Neshaminy, for which Congress appropriated $6,000,000.

Four Bids

Four bids were received for the channel work between the Cornwells shore and Holmesburg. The apparent low bid, $3,586,575, was offered by Western Contracting Corp., Sioux City, Iowa.

On Dec. 27, the Army will open bids for the fourth section off-shore from Philadelphia between Wissinoming and Tacony.

Fire Sweeps New York's Largest Pier

A ball of fire hangs over billowing clouds of smoke rising through twisted steel girders of Bush Terminal pier as a spectacular fire rages on New York City's largest pier. An earth-shaking explosion that demolished a fire boat, ignited huge

Sabotage Probe Starts In New York Pier Fire

NEW YORK — UP — Federal and local authorities searched for evidence of sabotage today in the flaming wake of a $15 million Brooklyn waterfront explosion which destroyed the city's largest pier, killed at least ten persons and injured some 400 others.

Two seamen were questioned about a mysterious telephone call made before the blast.

Fireboats and hundreds of firemen still fought the blaze this morning more than 12 hours after it broke out on the Luckenbach Steamship Line pier about 3:15 p.m. yesterday. The fire was officially reported under control at 6:42 p.m. last night.

Worst of Harbor

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanaugh, Jr., described the disaster as the "worst fire in the history of New York Harbor." He said he thought the bomb-like explosion was too tremendous to result from even the highly flammable cargo stored on the pier.

FBI agents, Navy intelligence men, police detectives and fire department officials joined in an all-out, "scientific" investigation of the possibility of sabotage.

One important lead was an anonymous telephone call received by the New York Times two hours before the fire. A male voice promised that "something big" would happen on a Brooklyn pier during the afternoon.

Cavanaugh said two crewmen of the steamship Ruth Lake were before the fire. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Group Retrieves Safe From Canal

It took the Lambertville Rescue Squad and men from the Heath and Allen Auto Repairs three hours to pull a 175 - pound empty safe from the Delaware Canal near New Hope yesterday.

But the rescuers knew it all the time as they were taken to the spot by a group of four robbers, who had dumped the emptied strong box into the canal near Route 32.

The theft occurred last week in New Rochelle, N.Y. More than $4000 was stolen from a cleaning establishment.

One of the thieves lived in New Hope and thought that would be a suitable place to hide the evidence.

They drove to New Hope and dumped the safe in the canal. New Rochelle police cracked the job and drove the hoodlums to the scene to retrieve the evidence.

Bull Thrown In Burlington

Bulls aren't common in Burlington Township parking lots, but one was found there early this morning by Burlington Township Police.

The animal, owned by Paul Patsaros, 805 High street, somehow got loose from Patsaros' farm, about a mile from town. Police Chief John W. Lane said his department got a call about 1:55 a.m. today to get a bull from the parking lot of the Rainbow diner, Route 130.

Four policeman and three boys took almost an hour to subdue the frisky beast. The rodeo was well worth it, Chief Lane said, as it gave all seven "cowboys" a chance to "throw the bull."

The animal was roped and its owner notified. The bull was tied on to the bumper of Patsaros' car and led back to pasture. Bulls just aren't wanted in parking lots, Chief Lane laughed.

ing questioned regarding the call received by the Times. The Ruth Lake was tied up at the Bethlehem Steel Co. Shipyard, 21 blocks from the Luckenbach pier, when the explosion occurred.

Fire Marshal Martin Scott said the caller apparently was one of the crewmen who wanted to report dissatisfaction aboard the drydocked British vessel. He said the call to the Times may have been a "coincidence" with the fire.

Other investigators were reported looking into the possibility of a connection between the fire and recent labor unrest along the Brooklyn waterfront, although officials said there was no immediate evidence of this. Kings County Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver said he might convene a grand jury to look into the tragedy.

Goldfarb and Ferris were charged with padding their expense accounts while in office, charging for autopsies and inquests that were not held, and for expenses that were not incurred.

Their arrest followed embezzlement charges by Bucks County Democrats in the 1955 election campaign, when Ferris was Bucks County Republican chairman and sought a new term as coroner.

Deer Season Start Kills 14

By UNITED PRESS

An estimated half million hunters, favored by good weather, tried their luck Monday on the opening day of the two-week antlered deer hunting season in Pennsylvania. But the death toll ran high.

At least 14 hunters died when they took to the woods Monday. Three, including the 16-year-old son of a Sullivan County associate judge, were shot accidentally. The 11 others were listed as heart attack victims.

Two men were shot and fatally wounded after they had given aid to other hunters.

Warren Danton, 60, of Pine Grove, was found dead of a heart attack on a mountain near Pine Grove in Bucks County.

Samuel J. Thompson, 33, a well-known insurance broker of West Middlesex, was shot fatally by accident while enacting a Good Samaritan role.

Thompson, hunting in Highland township, Elk county, met Warner Smith, 18, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Vincent Klamert, 18, Bedford, Ohio, who said they had lost their way.

As he was leading them to the main road, Klamert became ill and fell to the ground. His rifle dropped into the mud.

Thompson, thinking Klamert was an epileptic, put a penknife in the youth's mouth to prevent tongue biting.

When it was apparent Klamert was recovering, Thompson picked up the youth's gun to remove the mud from it.

He removed the clip with five shells, but in pulling the action of the weapon he inadvertently pushed another shell into the chamber. The gun snapped Smith's jacket and discharged, the bullet striking Thompson in the right eye and killing him instantly.

Supervisors It was agreed that the supervisors would initiate the action to draw state attention to the worsening problem in the township.

Letters will be sent to the State Highway Department, the Department of Forest and Water representatives of the area in the state senate and state assembly.

Board, CA Also Discuss Drainage

Approval for the development of the second section of Wynnefield township was signed last night by the Board of Supervisors at the regular monthly meeting.

Approval of the first section had come some time ago and the supervisors believed that at least another section will be added and maybe more.

Marion Rickert, developer of the area will be allowed to build once he fulfills all necessary obligations satisfactorily to the township.

Sewer, Drainage System Uppermost in consideration is plans which will include a proper sewer and drainage system.

Civic association members met with the supervisors prior to the board meeting to discuss drainage problems that currently confront the township.

In another step forward, the supervisors approved purchase of fingerprinting equipment for the township police department.

The full equipment will cost $75 and greatly aid police work in the township, the supervisors said.

Pass Resolution

A resolution was passed which would put the new equipment right to work.

All peddlers who enter the township without proper identification will be fingerprinted.

The supervisors also approved plans of Walter Coffin for building a church in a residentially zoned area without making a zoning variance necessary.

Same Zone Rulings It was explained that churches and single family residential homes fall under the same zoning rulings.

The church to be built will also include a recreational area but this will not change its zoning status.

The supervisors also recommended that the Pennsbury school hire police protection at their own expense. They agreed that they would be willing to deputize the proper man for the job.

School officials have requested police protection which the supervisors feel the township cannot afford at this time.

The resignation of Jeffrey Folds as a member of the zoning board of adjustment was accepted "with regrets."

Mr. Folds is moving from the area. The board will operate with two members until another is named.

Road Noted For Neglect

pher, road crews showed up and patched some of the worst holes. But there are still plenty to jar motorists who get a little careless.

One of the worst features is just about the narrowest bridge in Lower Bucks. The bridge is less than half a mile off the Newportville road, below Fallsington. It is marked by signs on either side warning motorists that it is narrow. But apparently more than signs is needed.

Patch Job One of the concrete and stone abutments has disappeared as the result of an automobile crash. The state has covered the gap with two strands of guard rail cable.

Tullytown-Fallsington road is now used mostly by local traffic for motorists going to Thornridge, Birch Valley, North Park, Pine-wood, or Lakeside sections of Levittown. It also serves as a feeder to the new limited access Route 13.

Formerly the road continued on to Tullytown but it now dead ends at the new Route 13, which cuts across it, near Lakeside.

Deep Holes Motorists are forced to swerve sharply to avoid the holes, which are as deep as eight inches or more. The worst spot before the recent patching job was near Penn Valley road.

Crash Victim's Body Enroute To Makefield

The body of Second Lt. Alexander C. Oliphant III, who was killed in an auto accident Sunday, was on the way to the family home in Lower Makefield township today.

Second Lt. H. L. Boyer Royal, 22, of 734 North Pennsylvania avenue, Morrisville, who was injured in the same accident was reported "recovering rapidly" this morning.

Lt. Royal suffered a broken toe and cuts and bruises in the accident near Fayetteville, N. C.

The two recently commissioned ROTC officers were on their way to Fort Benning, Ga., when they collided head on with a car carrying three soldiers going to Fort Bragg, N. C.

Lt. Oliphant was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Oliphant Jr. of Ardsley road, River Glen, near Yardley. He was a graduate of the Peddie School and Drexel Institute.

Lt. Royal is a Lehigh graduate and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Royal of the Morrisville address.

Army authorities said Lt. Oliphant was driving the car when the crash occurred about 3:10 a.m. It was reported that the driver of the other car fell asleep at the wheel.

Queen To Reign

Eleanor Hurling, recently elected "Miss Delaware Valley of 1957" will be the official hostess tonight for Stag Night at Pomeroy's store, Levittown Shopping Center. Men only will be admitted into the store between 6:30 and 10 p.m.

Auditorium, Historic Relics Site Outlined

Plans to build a memorial museum at Washington Crossing State Park were revealed to 65 educators from Pennsylvania and New Jersey yesterday by Mrs. Ann Hawkes Kutton, of Edgely, chairman of the Washington Crossing Park Commission.

The museum will house the famed painting of Washington Crossing the Delaware, historic relics relating to the American Revolution and a historical library, with an auditorium seating 400 persons.

Battle of Trenton

The General State Authority will build the museum, she said, on the ridge southwest of the Point of Embarkation, where George Washington's troops set off for their victorious, tide-turning Battle of Trenton on Christmas day, 1776.

Dr. Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction and Bucks County school superintendent, was among the educators attending the conference.

Other participating included Mrs. Kathryn Greywaz, director of the New Jersey State Museum, Department of Education and Norman Fisher, acting park superintendent.

Mrs. Hutton said Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, Pennsylvania secretary of forests and waters, was responsible for the action of the museum and has made many visits to the park.

Dr. Boehm said the state is making available to the schools a film stressing the historical background of Pennsylvania. Mr. Fisher and Mrs. Hutton presented a series of color slides with commentary for school use.

Brownies Installed In Fallsington

Seeing Levittown

By JIM ORT

How much does it cost to present a play? The Levittown Players October production of "Archie and Old Lace" cost $445.81. The greatest expense, excepting the printing of programs and tickets, was a royalty of $85 for three performances. The figure included $5.31 for make-up. The play required a more than usual amount of paint, powder, and lipstick, due to type of characters the players portrayed.

The younger set of the community will be treated to a visit from Santa Claus, Saturday, Dec. 2. The white-bearded gentleman will hop aboard a fire truck from Levittown Fire Company No. 1, and visit different sections passing out lollipops, courtesy of the firemen.

Lynore Feldman, 23 Basswood road, Blue Ridge, publicist for the Levittown Emergency Squad is keeping a busy schedule these days. Hubby, Ben, is in the hospital. She is at home here with her two children. Between visits to the hospital, taking care of the youngsters and house, and chores for the squad, she has her hands full. He went Sunday, via a squad ambulance.

reliably informed that "as of last Friday morning the three Democrat women working in the Registration office were still listed as Committee-women."

"On Friday morning these people were called into the Commissioner's office," he said "They were informed by Welsh that they had two weeks to resign their jobs or their position as Committee-women."

"Welsh misinforms the public when he claims they resigned a 'long time ago.' Friday is only three days ago. No back dated letters can get Welsh off the hook that the three women were committee people on that day."

"As a voter of Bucks County I have every right to investigate irregularities in the registration office. Welsh wants to lightly shrug off the State Election Code on this matter. It is an extremely serious situation when avid elected party officials are in a possible position to influence a person's registration."

Tetlow as president for his fifth term.

The vote was three to two to ask for Harris' resignation. Mrs. Alice Pickett and Samuel Everitt supported the attorney. At the same time the board approved a motion to ask the Bucks County Bar Association for a list of four eligible attorneys to select a successor.

The puster action came on a motion by David Bernhardt, following considerable discussion. Walter Carter seconded the motion.

It followed a nine day deadline imposed on Harris at the Nov. 19 meeting. Tetlow explained that Harris still has not completed negotiations. "Things are pretty much the same as they were at the last meeting," Tetlow said.

Background

He reviewed the history of the case, saying it had been 16 months since the board first gave Harris power to negotiate for the land, and more than two months since the solicitor was instructed to come to terms with the property owners or start condemnation proceedings.

Group Retrieves Safe From Canal

It took the Lambertville Rescue Squad and men from the Heath and Allen Auto Repairs three hours to pull a 175-pound empty safe from the Delaware Canal near New Hope yesterday.

But the rescuers knew it all the time as they were taken to the spot by a group of four robbers, who had dumped the emptied strong box into the canal near Route 32.

The theft occurred last week in New Rochelle, N.Y. More than $4000 was stolen from a cleaning establishment.

One of the thieves lived in New Hope and thought that would be a suitable place to hide the evidence.

They drove to New Hope and dumped the safe in the canal. New Rochelle police cracked the job and drove the hoodlums to the scene to retrieve the evidence.

Bull Thrown In Burlington

Bulls aren't common in Burlington Township parking lots, but one was found there early this morning by Burlington Township Police.

The animal, owned by Paul Patsaros, 805 High street, somehow got lost from Patsaros' farm, about a mile from town. Police Chief John W. Lane said his department got a call about 1:55 a.m. today to get a bull from the parking lot of the Rainbow diner, Route 130.

Four policemen and three boys took almost an hour to subdue the frisky beast. The rodeo was well worth it, Chief Lane said, as it gave all seven "cowboys" a chance to "throw the bull."

The animal was roped and its owner notified. The bull was tied on to the bumper of Patsaros' car and led back to pasture. Bulls just aren't wanted in parking lots, Chief Lane laughed.

Pier Fire

ing questioned regarding the call received by the Times. The Ruth Lake was tied up at the Bethlehem Steel Co. Shipyard, 21 blocks from the Luckenbach pier, when the explosion occurred.

Fire Marshal Martin Scott said the caller apparently was one of the crewmen who wanted to report dissatisfaction aboard the drydocked British vessel. He said the call to the Times may have been a "coincidence" with the fire.

Other investigators were reported looking into the possibility of a connection between the fire and recent labor unrest along the Brooklyn waterfront, although officials said there was no immediate evidence of this. Kings County Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver said he might convene a grand jury to look into the tragedy.

Goldfarb

farb is expected to enter his plea of "no defense" before Judge Corson Friday.

The defendant served as deputy under former Coroner Russell J. T. Ferris, who was sentenced in Norristown in October after a no defense plea and is now serving time in the Bucks County Prison. Judge George C. Corson, who sentenced Ferris, was to preside today.

Goldfarb and Ferris were charged with padding their expense accounts while in office, charging for autopsies and inquests that were not held, and for expenses that were not incurred.

Their arrest followed embezzlement charges by Bucks County Democrats in the 1955 election campaign, when Ferris was Bucks County Republican chairman and sought a new term as coroner.

Dr. Negib Hashem, under secretary of the Ministry of Education in Egypt, will address a world affairs forum tonight at the William Penn Center, Fallsington, at 8:30 p.m.

Originally scheduled to speak was Dr. Fayed Seyegh, acting director of the Arab States delegation office in New York.

Officials at the center received word that Dr. Seyegh has been unavoidably detained in New York because of the current crisis in the Middle East and the situation in the United Nations.

Dr. Hashem will relate "The Arab Point of View" in the Middle East strife.

He has just arrived in the United States and is traveling under the auspices of the Egyptian Ministry for the Egyptian Good Will Mission representing the people of Port Said. 4 Companies Battle Fire

Four fire companies in Bensalem Township answered an alarm yesterday to put out a field fire blazing at Glenn Ashton Farms, Newportville road at Bridgewater road.

Newport Fire Co. was the first on the scene, followed by the Edgington, Union, and Cornwells fire companies.

The fire, which started about 3 p.m. yesterday, started from a rubbish fire that the strong winds whipped around spreading the flames into a field, Edgington Fire Chief Ben Hughes said today.

Little damage was done because of the quick work of the fire companies, Chief Hughes said.

Jeffries Heads Bristol Board

Horace W. Jeffries of 1811 Benson place was elected president of the Bristol borough school board at the board's organization meeting last night, succeeding Norman H. Ryan.

Mr. Jeffries' election was unanimous, with the board secretary, Paul V. Forster, instructed to cast the ballot. He was nominated by Carmen Mignoni, vice president, who was elected to a new term.

Levittowners Take Prizes

Levittowners walked off with three of the five top prizes awarded recently by a food store chain.

Mrs. Madeline Wisocki, 36 Freedom lane, Farmbrook, won a 1957 Ford following the final performance of the "Show of Shows" at convention hall in Philadelphia.

The new automobile was one of the two grand prizes awarded.

Third prize of a complete kitchen including a range, refrigerator, freezer, automatic washer, and dryer, went to Edward G. Dooner, 61 Tall Pine lane, Thornridge.

Mae Cohen of 28 Spindletree road received a 10-day, all expense paid vacation to Bermuda.

The show and prizes were given by the Penn Fruit Company.

Deer Season Start Kills 14

By UNITED PRESS

An estimated half million hunters, favored by good weather, tried their luck Monday on the opening day of the two-week antlered deer hunting season in Pennsylvania. But the death toll ran high.

At least 14 hunters died when they took to the woods Monday. Three, including the 16-year-old son of a Sullivan County associate judge, were shot accidentally. The 11 others were listed as heart attack victims.

Two men were shot and fatally wounded after they had given aid to other hunters.

Warren Dorton, 60, of Pine Grove, was found dead of a heart attack on a mountain near Pine Grove in Bucks County.

Samuel J. Thompson, 38, a well-known insurance broker of West Middlesex, was shot fatally by accident while enacting a Good Samaritan role.

Thompson, hunting in Highland township, Elk county, met Warner Smith, 18, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Vincent Klamert, 18, Bedford, Ohio, who said they had lost their way.

As he was leading them to the main road, Klamert became ill and fell to the ground. His rifle dropped into the mud.

Thompson, thinking Klamert was an epileptic, put a penknife in the youth's mouth to prevent tongue biting.

When it was apparent Klamert was recovering, Thompson picked up the youth's gun to remove the mud from it.

He removed the clip with five shells, but in pulling the action of the weapon he inadvertently pushed another shell into the chamber. The gun snapped Smith's jacket and discharged, the bullet striking Thompson in the right eye and killing him instantly.

Tullytown Board

President William Swangler and Mrs. Frances Gaunt, vice president of the Tullytown school board were re-elected at the board's organization meeting last night in the Walt Disney elementary school.

Mr. Swangler named William Parr, William Miller and Roger Witt to a house committee.

Lower Makefield Sewage Job Asked

Aroused citizens of Lower Makefield township moved yesterday to force the State to take action over their numerous complaints on leakage from sewer lines under Black Rock road.

The road is a state owned highway which runs through the center of the township.

At a special session with the township board of supervisors, representatives of the Lower Makefield Civic Association and the Penn Valley Manor Civic Association met last night to formally organize their attack.

Supervisors It was agreed that the supervisors would initiate the action to draw state attention to the worsening problem in the township. Letters will be sent to the State Highway Department, the Department of Forest and Water representatives of the area in the state senate and state assembly.

Major complaint stems from a main which runs under Black Rock road. The main is reported overloaded and any excess of rain in the area tosses seepage into homes throughout the community.

Jack Berkley, president, will outline tentative plans for ski trips and answer any questions concerning the club's newly erected ski tow above New Hope.

Bensalem Board Officers Named

J. Maurice Tomlinson was re-elected president of the Bensalem Township School Board last night at a special organizational meeting.

Mrs. Odessa Bengston was elected vice president of the board. School Superintendent Robert Shaler said.

Cloak Bit

One home owner commented, "It got so bad one time that I had to play the role of Sir Walter Raleigh. The water was so deep in front of our house that I had to carry my wife across the front lawn."

The supervisors promised that they would give the matter immediate attention.

They will contact the state and advise officials as to conditions. A definite answer will be given to the Civic Association members at the next meeting, Jan. 7, of the supervisors.

Further Study

If the state does not answer the request by then, the future plan of action will be studied.

Association members said the condition has been evident over a year.

Robert Crowell, representing the builder, George Otto, attended the meeting in the township municipal building.

Lease Stumps Police Move

Bensalem Police will remain in their old headquarters because of a "foul-up" in the lease to the new headquarters.

Township police had already begun loading a van with office equipment yesterday in preparation for the move when Chief William Riempp Jr., checking the lease he got minutes before in the mail, found the lease "didn't even coincide with a verbal agreement we'd made with the leasee."

Chief Riempp said it was "disheartening, but the township is considering other sites for the force."

Levittown Girl Seriously Hurt

A six-year-old Levittown girl was admitted to Lower Bucks County hospital late yesterday afternoon with a possible fractured skull.

Nancy Kieser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Kieser, 10 Apricot lane, Appleton Hill, suffered the injury when she fell from a ten-foot-high shelf in the Kieser garage. Mrs. Kieser reported this morning her daughter apparently used a ladder standing nearby to climb to the shelf.

A neighbor was summoned and took the pair to the headquarters of the Levittown Emergency Squad, and the squad transported the youngster to the hospital.

Stockett Elected As Board Head

Benjamin F. Stockett Jr., was unanimously elected president of the Bristol Township School Board at its organizational meeting last night.

Two Women Hit By Cars

Two women were seriously injured when they were struck by automobiles on Route 13 in Bristol Township.

Mrs. Anna Rea, 55, of 220 Newport road, West Bristol, was struck by a car at 11:55 last night as she tried to cross the highway at Route 413. Driver of the car was identified as Meredith Grauer, 36, of June avenue and Street road, Edgington.

He told police officers Leonard Stoughton and John Harman that Mrs. Rea darted in front of his car as he was making a left turn on to Route 13.

She was admitted to Lower Bucks County Hospital with a possible fractured right leg.

Mrs. Stella Lipiarski, 46, of 529 Sycamore avenue, Croydon, was also admitted with a possible concussion and multiple abrasions. Police report she was struck by a car driven by Ted Schaun, 18, of 2208 Garfield avenue, Croydon, at 6:40 o'clock this morning.

Police reported that Mrs. Lipiarski was standing in the middle of Route 13 near Belmont avenue. Croydon, waiting for a chance to cross.

Schaun said he didn't see Mrs. Lipiarski. He was charged with having obscured vision. Police said the windshield was coated with frost.

Kiwanis Officers Attend Course

Elected officers of the Kiwanis Club of Levittown attended the 18th division officers school at Upper Dublin High School, yesterday.

Lt. Gov.-elect, William Schell, who was in charge of the session, outlined the plans for the 18th Division and the 1957 Pennsylvania District of Kiwanis International.

Officers-elect of 10 clubs attending the school were briefed on their duties.

Those attending from Levittown were Tim R. Fahey, president - elect; William VanTilburg, vice president - elect; William Quinlan, secretary - elect; Paul Dickens, treasurer - elect, and Frank Murray, director - elect.

Bristol Firemen Answer 3 Alarms

Firemen of Bristol Consolidated company were called to the borough dump, a dress shop, and a field by Silver Lake in three alarms yesterday afternoon.

They used gallons of water to soak the dump fire, which was sending smoke through the area. A faulty oil burner was the cause of the alarm at the French Shop, 213 Mill street. The field fire was at Third avenue, near Grimaldi's restaurant.

Police Unit Starts Drive For Toys

The Bristol Township Police Benevolent Association will collect discarded toys and distribute them to needy children at Christmas time.

The group asked anyone with old toys to call police headquarters, Windsor 6-4900. A member of the group will then pick up the articles. This is the second year the association has undertaken this project.

Approval for the development of the second section of Wynne-wood in budding Lower Makefield township was signed last night by the Board of Supervisors at the regular monthly meeting.

Approval of the first section had come some time ago and the supervisors believed that at least another section will be added and maybe more.

Marion Rickert, developer of the area will be allowed to build once he fulfills all necessary obligations satisfactorily to the township.

Sewer, Drainage System

Uppermost in consideration is plans which will include a proper sewer and drainage system.

Civic association members met with the supervisors prior to the board meeting to discuss drainage problems that currently confront the township.

In another step forward, the supervisors approved purchase of fingerprinting equipment for the township police department.

The full equipment will cost $75 and greatly aid police work in the township, the supervisors said.

Pass Resolution

A resolution was passed which would put the new equipment right to work.

All peddlers who enter the township without proper identification will be fingerprinted.

The supervisors also approved plans of Walter Coffin for building a church in a residentially zoned area without making a zoning variance necessary.

Same Zone Rulings

It was explained that churches and single family residential homes fall under the same zoning rulings.

The church to be built will also include a recreational area but this will not change its zoning status.

The supervisors also recommended that the Pennsylvania school hire police protection at their own expense. They agreed that they would be willing to deputize the proper man for the job.

School officials have requested police protection which the supervisors feel the township cannot afford at this time.

The resignation of Jeffrey Foldessy as a member of the zoning board of adjustment was accepted "with regrets."

Mr. Foldessy is moving from the area. The board will operate with two members until another is named.

Road Noted For Neglect

pher, road crews showed up and patched some of the worst holes. But there are still plenty to jar motorists who get a little car-less.

One of the worst features is just about the narrowest bridge in Lower Bucks. The bridge is less than half a mile off the Newportville road, below Fallsington. It is marked by signs on either side warning motorists that it is narrow. But apparently more than signs is needed.

Patch Job

One of the concrete and stone abutments has disappeared as the result of an automobile crash. The state has covered the gap with two strands of guard rail cable.

Tullytown-Fallsington road is now used mostly by local traffic for motorists going to Thornridge, Birch Valley, North Park, Pine-wood, or Lakeside sections of Levittown. It also serves as a feeder to the new limited access Route 13.

Formerly the road continued on to Tullytown but it now dead ends at the new Route 13, which cuts across it, near Lakeside.

Deep Holes

Motorists are forced to swerve sharply to avoid the holes, which are as deep as eight inches or more. The worst spot before the recent patching job was near Penn Valley road.

The surface has been literally beaten to a pulp by heavy trucks coming in and out of the quarry and cement batch plant nearby. Driving through the area was a matter of feeling your way and looking for the smallest holes.

Even with the recent patching there are still plenty of holes to choose from and the patches are now choice bumps.

Falls GOP Asks For Charter

Falls Township Republican Club yesterday applied for a charter in Bucks County Quarter Sessions Court.

The incorporation petition was presented by Attorney Harold Patton, Levittown. No opposition was voiced in court, and a decision will be handed down at a later date.

This month the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company celebrates the second anniversary of "Charge-It", the revolutionary change in credit extension which was introduced to residents of Bucks County just two years ago.

Beginning with a charter group of 42 member stores, the roster of "charge-It" merchants as increased until today there are 71 stores offering this convenient shop and charge service. A large percentage of the merchant members also belongs to the Mill Street-Bristol Businessmen's Association which has played a large part in the phenomenal success of "Charge-It."

The rapid growth in the number of buying members is even more startling. At the present time there are more than 13,000 persons who hold membership in "Charge-It", while purchases through the plan total over three quarters of a million dollars in the past 24 months. This represents an increase of a half million dollars in purchases over the first year.

Harry E. Danner, Fidelity vice president and former president of the Farmers National Bank of Bucks County, originators of the shopping plan, admits that results are gratifying but not too surprising. He said that both merchants and shoppers have needed such a system for a long time and, while the service does not supplant other credit systems, it does fill a very important need. It enables the smaller merchants to compete on equal footing with the larger stores, Danner pointed out.

The small store owner is not burdened with the added expense of maintaining his own credit department, a practice that even large stores have found very costly. As a member of "Charge-It", the merchant can make all the credit sales he wishes and still have the cash on hand to restock his store.

The Fidelity bank immediately reimburses him for all sales made on credit to "Charge-It" members and it assumes the task of bookkeeping, billing and collecting.

The customer profits too, because the "Charge-It" service costs him nothing and provides him with almost limited credit in 71 diversified stores in this area. For all of his purchases the customers receives but one bill and he has as long as ninety days in which to repay, depending upon the amount of the purchase and the terms agreed upon. "Charge-It" is especially welcome at this time of year when purchases are extra heavy and an added burden is placed on the budget of almost every family from Christmas buying.

"An important thing to remember," said Howard Wink, manager of the Fidelity "Charge-It" service, "is that 'Charge-It' never costs a member one cent to join the service or take advantages of its privileges. 'Merchants who become part of the 'Charge-It' system are bound not to pass the cost of the service on to the customer. This is quite agreeable to the merchants, however, because 'Charge-It' has proven to be such a stimulation to business."

As to the future of "Charge-It", members, merchants and Fidelity personnel are all agreed that it will increase sales even more and bring greater prosperity to the Lower Bucks County area.
